

To DR E MCGURK.

Dear Sir.

It was only recently that I missed my chance to send off my opinion on the granting of licences under Wildlife legislation in England, thus not for the purpose of my using such a licence.

It was however to assist me in my studies of legislation effecting Field Sports which I do now.

My views are based on "Hands On" experience over many years. I do not participate any longer due to age and a well worn skeletal frame.

However my Brain is still working and I read everything I can on Field Sports effected by any Acts related to this.

is a problem I see divided by two main things Public Relationships and finance and the choice of people to carry out any programme for the reduction or elimination of foreign species that could cause problems

I have taken the liberty of listing these.

~~PARAKEET~~ ~~ROBIN~~ * MONK.

Ruddy Duck problem

WILD SWAN. GEESE Egyptian & Canada

TURKEY'S POULTRY FARMS

My concern is that foot & mouth could flare up in any area & would create a situation of control, hard to extreme It was suggested in the last F&M outbreak that inoculation, this would be expensive & take too long.

In my humble opinion it has become certain that it steps are not taken in an outbreak any

me conclude also feel that the Minister for Public Health Safety would insist that action would have to be immediate

The tourist trade would cease if Fowl Pest disease occurred

The implications are enormous my opinion extends to all foreign species where applicable and lawful

I remain respectfully
